Cultural exchange

Samburu has some unique animals for viewing rarely found together in other parks. The gerenuk is an antelope with a giraffe-like neck, adapted to browsing in bushes—a niche not exploited by most other animals. The Beisa oryx survives this hot climate by cooling the blood flowing to its brain, as it passes through capillaries in its nose. Other unique species in this incredible wildlife environment include the Reticulated giraffe, the Grevy zebra and the Somali ostrich.

This part of Kenya has been on the forefront of research on elephant migration patterns and corridors. Dr. Iain Douglas-Hamilton and his Elephant Watch camp are based in the area. Mapping elephant migration corridors, their GPS data helps to prevent conflicts between elephants and humans. Local farmers and pastoralists have an easier time protecting their crops, livestock and families because of the work done by Save the Elephants.

Includes: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner
Alcohol & Beverages, Laundry
Swimming Pool, Wi-fi
Private guide & private vehicle

The Samburu are one of the most well-known and culturally fascinating tribes left in Africa.

Explore wildlife and the authentic lifestyle of the Samburu with the Warriors Academy.

Under the tutelage of the Moran, or warriors, see the Kenyan wilderness from a different perspective. Visit with them in their home village as they introduce you to family and friends. This cultural exchange is a true privilege.

Wildlife viewing
Walking safaris

Prolific Lewa Wildlife Conservancy spans the sprawling plains north of Mt. Kenya and has been a popular subject of writers, photographers, conservationists and even celebrities the world over. Offering some of Kenya's best wildlife viewing in the Laikipia Plateau, including big cats, jackals and the largest concentration of Grevy's zebras left in Africa. It is also home to more than 130 Black and White rhino. Pioneering conservation efforts since the 1970s, it is now a globally-recognized successful rhino conservancy.

Lewa Safari Camp offers private access to 65,000 acres of protected wilderness owned by the Conservancy. Camp profits and conservancy fees go directly into its conservation and community efforts. Lewa Safari Camp's staff are locals from the neighboring communities. You are welcome in the rhino nursery and can easily visit local schools and communities that profit from Lewa's tourism programs.

Board a bush flight to the greater Maasai Mara ecosystem, home to the legendary migration crossings of millions of wildebeest.

Spanning 35,000 acres, Olare Motorogi Conservancy is the first private conservancy in the Maasai Mara ecosystem. Founded in 2006 when 227 Maasai landowners partnered with conservationists, it now acts as a template for all Mara wildlife conservancies and a blueprint for the sustainability of the greater Mara ecosystems that are crucial to the survival of the great wildebeest migration.

Olare Motorogi promises unrivaled wildlife viewing in an intimate, private wilderness setting of rolling grassland, hills, escarpment, riverine forest and acacia woodland. In addition, the Conservancy delivers guaranteed income to the local community as well as protects their ancestral lands.

Includes: Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner
Alcohol & Beverages, Laundry
Private guide & private vehicle

The Mara has been called “Hollywood Africa.”

Out of Africa,
the BBC’s *Big
