South Africa Private

Safari in style with private guides

Begin this safari in the winelands of Franschhoek, a green slice of Africa that looks Dutch and tastes French. It's a great place to launch a private adventure with your family, or with your favorite bunch of traveling friends. Then, follow the coast road to a stunning private villa in Grootbos. There's a big story here. And another in Samara where a private reserve immerses you in the success of rewilding the Great Karoo with everything from aardvark to zebra. From there, it's Machaton Private Camp. Next to owning your own lodge, there's no more private way to see the Simbavati. Wildlife drives give you lots to share at dinner around the fire in the boma.

An easy drive brings you to Franschhoek, settled by Huguenots in the late 1600s who named their farms in homage to French wines. Authentic bright white Cape Dutch architecture accents an apple-green valley surrounded by misted peaks crowned by the fragrant fynbos flora that only exists here. Settle into your private villa and unwind with a leisurely walk, a swim, or the freedom you feel on a bike. There are restaurants to consider, vineyards to visit and after a nap, perhaps, an exceptional dinner prepared by your personal chef.

The Manor at Samara Samara Private Game Reserve

This private tract of 70,000 acres (283 sq. km), once crossed by migrating springbok numbering in the hundreds of thousands, has a long history, including damage from years of stock farming. Now it's a self-sustaining ecosystem restored to its former glory. It's called rewilding. Step one: Leave the land fallow for 10 years and let it heal. Then begin the long process of reintroducing indigenous wildlife to bring back all the species that belong here. It's a paradigm of diversity and balance. Kruger without crowds. With the convenience of private suites and your own chef and housekeeper, you're free to structure or unstructure each day. A leisurely picnic? Cheetah tracking with experts? Or wildlife drives with guides who recognize individual animals and know their haunts. It's your call.

Simbavati, tucked against the western flank of Kruger, is the largest of the private game reserves, chosen to heighten your experience observing wildlife without skimping on ways to retreat and refresh. Think spa. Think terrace and plunge pool overlooking the riverbed. Exceptional cuisine and curated wines. Your private suite is designed for tranquility. You should be your own butler, chef, housekeeper, groundsman, and your own guide and tracker with a private 4x4. For wildlife drives in the morning. Or afternoon/evening with a pause for a bushveld sundowner and possibly the best gin and tonic ever, followed by nocturnal animals at work and play, including the big cats.

Part of Deeper Africa's mission is giving back to the land and people of Africa. When you travel with us, your safari dollar contributes to this exciting work.

Grootbos Foundation

The foundation is committed to the conservation of the Cape Floral Kingdom and the upliftment of the communities that live here. Program scope is vast and deep but in the past 12 months alone people have: planted 6,360 trees, cleared 759 hectares of alien flora, spent 7,500 hours mentoring youth. Ask about the work.

Samara Foundation

Samara has worked miracles to restore the land and nurture a thriving flora and fauna balance, reintroducing cheetah, the endangered black rhino, Cape Mountain zebra and more. They founded the Tracker Academy, located at Samara, to train young men in the ancient art of tracking, so important to ecotourism. Ask about the work.
