The Elephant Camp Victoria Falls

The local name of Victoria Falls is Mosi-oa-Tunya and means “the smoke that thunders.”

The world’s largest waterfall, Victoria Falls, stands at an imposing 355 feet (108 m) tall and is one of the seven natural wonders of the world. Fed by the Zambezi River system, it straddles the border between Zimbabwe and Zambia. The noise of the falls can be heard 25 miles (40 km) away.

The Elephant Camp is a sanctuary for rescued and orphaned animals. These animals cannot survive in the wild, but they prosper here and offer an opportunity to learn more about their species. Enjoy the Elephant Encounter activity and meet four amazing elephants who are very comfortable with humans.

support conservation in Victoria Falls.

Dedicated to the co-existence of local communities and wildlife, the Victoria Falls Wildlife Trust and the Wild Horizons Elephant Sanctuary were established to promote conservation awareness, education and empowerment of local indigenous communities.

Each year, more than a thousand schoolchildren are treated to an educational interaction with the elephants. The Trust conducts continuing research into elephant behavior, communication and social structure. It works to protect the area's unique indigenous fauna and flora in collaboration with local communities, stakeholders and authorities. Lastly, it rehabilitates injured or orphaned wildlife, conducts anti-poaching and provides wildlife veterinary assistance.

Machaba Camp Khwai Concession Okavango Delta

- Includes:*

For great wildlife viewing, this is the place to be. Khwai sits between Chobe National Park, the Linyanti area, and Moremi Game Reserve, so it acts as a wildlife corridor. The Khwai River is the first major water source for animals' migrating down from the Chobe and Linyanti. The camp sits right on the Mana River so animals come close by to drink.

For great people taking care of your family, this is the place to be. Embrace of families and children is part of the traditions of Botswana. That means staff going the extra mile to ensure your children have sudden moments of intense happiness and well-being.

For great guides, this is the place to be. The owner of Machaba was a guide. He understands that your guide is really the best part of your safari. Machaba guides are gifted trackers showing you all the treasures of their ecosystem. You'll quickly notice they're mentors and teachers, equally comfortable with young children and accomplished adults because both ask good questions that open up important conversations about wildlife.

DAYS 6, 7 & 8

Monachira Camp

Moremi Game Reserve

Your camp is located on the Monachira Channel in the Moremi Game Reserve of the Okavango Delta, a permanent waterway attracting abundant wildlife, including large mammals such as elephants, lions and leopard, as well as semiaquatic antelope. It is very close to the Gudigwa heronries - a nesting ground for thousands of herons, egrets and storks.

Moremi is all about searching for big wildlife. The habitats are as diverse as the wildlife itself. Water-adapted antelopes and wary-eyed buffaloes spill out into floodplains, behind towering woodlands where leopards hide on the high branches. Dead trees cast silhouettes over elephant filled savannas which are just a stone's throw from papyrus-fringed channels stretching out to the delta beyond.

We've saved the best for last—the Makgadikgadi salt pans. A truly unique and unusual ecosystem, this is one of Africa's largest ephemeral wetlands. Once an ancient ocean—what remains is a large, flat, shimmering salt pan stretching for miles in every direction. The grass that grows in the pan is especially nutritious because of its mineral content, drawing wildlife from miles around. This is a magical place that turns into a surreal wonderland at sunset, with a night sky that's studded full of millions of stars. There is complete silence, a hard thing to find in our world.

Wildlife in Makgadikgadi is also unusual and unique. Habituated meerkats den in one area of the pans. At sunrise, watch them crawl from their den, stand and open their chests to the sun to raise their body temperature, before scampering about in search of food. This is one of only two places in Botswana to view brown hyena. Quad bike out on the salt pan. Hang out with the meerkats. Walk with the famed San Bushmen as they show you how they, their grandfathers and grandmothers survived in this most austere environment. Plus wildlife viewing in a unique new world.

Genetic evidence suggests that the nomadic San (Bushmen) are one of the oldest peoples in the world.

Their lifestyle remains rooted in Paleolithic traditions, suited to the harshness of the dry season in the Pans and Kalahari. Take a leisurely bush walk with San trackers to see how people survive and thrive in this landscape, and learn basic survival skills and plant identification tips.

The San have their own variant of the Khoisan language with its clicking consonants and they will teach you a few basic words and phrases. Months from now, back in your busy life, you will remember the people you met on this day and be amazed to recall how their typical weekday looks and feels compared to yours. Some weeks, you may wish to trade places.

Travel for Impact

BanaBa Letsati is a grass roots program that brings community members together to expand opportunities for school-age children in Maun. It's run by Travel for Impact, one of many Nongovernmental Organizations (NGOs) we partner with in Africa. Your Deeper Africa safari includes a contribution that keeps this program running and growing. This means boosting recreational opportunities, providing counseling and peer mentorship. It means extra clothes and shoes for active growing kids. BanaBa Letsati is a place to learn new skills, to get some help with schoolwork, or just relax over a shared meal.
